Breakthrough Properties is a life science real estate investment, development, and management firm that leverages cross-sector collaboration to deliver environments that foster innovation and scientific breakthroughs.

Our team is a first-of-its-kind collaboration in real estate development, which came together through a shared passion that combines Tishman Speyer's global real estate platform with Bellco Capital's industry-making life science entrepreneurship to capitalize on the rapidly expanding—yet substantially under-supplied—life science real estate industry.

TISHMAN SPEYER

Tishman Speyer has developed, acquired, repositioned and/or operated approximately $130 billion of property since 1978, including approximately 221 million square feet of premier office, residential, life science, industrial and retail space. With real estate expertise spanning four continents, Tishman Speyer has built an international reputation for both developing and operating prominent properties with world-class tenant rosters in major markets worldwide. Tishman's fully integrated platform includes in-house expertise for design and construction, development, capital raising and management of real estate with an established presence in 33 core regional markets globally.

BELLCO CAPITAL

Bellco Capital is an investment firm founded by Drs. Rebecka and Arie Belldgrun that invests in and builds life science companies. Bellco's competitive edge comes from its unique position and firsthand experience navigating the intersection of academia, life science companies, pharma, and the investment community. Bellco's life science ecosystem, including its core strategies of company building (Two River) and venture investing (Vida Ventures) supports companies with bold ambitions of exponential transformation in life sciences.
